SSCD Investigator Award for Studies on Non-Celiac Gluten/Wheat Sensitivity

sponsored by NESTLE RESEARCH CENTER

Description

The Society for the Study of Celiac Disease (SSCD) is seeking applications for a 2019 Investigator Award in Non-Celiac Gluten/ Wheat Sensitivity Research. The Award consists of a grant of up to $50,000 for one year, which cannot include indirect costs. The Award is intended to support a research project on a basic, translational, or clinical topic related to the investigation of NCG/WS pathophysiology, distinct clinical characteristics, implications of gut microbiota, epithelial barrier and/or innate immunity.

Eligibility

Applicants must have a PhD or MD (or equivalent). They must hold a full-time position at a North American academic institution and the research is to be conducted in a North American institution. Individuals holding a career development award (e.g., NIH K series or other federal or non-federal career development award) are eligible. However, the proposed research should be an extension of or departure from the aims proposed in the career development award. Membership in the SSCD is required at the time of application and throughout the term of the grant.

Submission Requirements

Candidates must submit a complete application, as detailed below, in a single PDF file.

- Proposals must not exceed five (5) pages (excluding references). Proposal preparation according to NIH-form SF 424 \(R&R\) guidelines is strongly recommended.
- The candidate's NIH-style biosketch must be provided and cannot exceed five (5) pages.
- A letter from the candidate's Department Chair or Division Chief must be included in the application. This letter should verify the candidate's eligibility and must describe the resources available to the candidate.

A budget must be provided. Funding requests may include:

- Personnel (e.g., research assistant and/or faculty salary support; this should include a percentage of effort for the proposed study with appropriate justification)
- Supplies and reagents
- Expenses associated with research involving preclinical or clinical research

Grant Submission Deadline: Friday, February 22, 2019 at info@theceliacsociety.org
